Rosie C. Wins the Pacing Race Brown Silk Beats Ottinger-To-Day's Events and Entries.

On Monday, Yolo Maid will pace to beat her record, 2:12. The association offers a purse of $750 for the successful outcome of the trial. If the grand stand has been crowded on previous days, Monday will find it full to overflowing. No greater at-traction could be offered than this, and, under good conditions, the trial should be

The electricity that moves the street ears had returned from its quondam vacation of the day before, the sun was bright and the breezes did not blow. Everybody who went to the races was happy, and even the band had learned a new tune, so inspiring was the weather.

The race track throng appeared on the scene earlier than usual, as the programme was announced to begin at 1:45. Half an hour before that time the cars began to unload their hundreds of passengers at the gates, and from then until 8:30 o'clock an interested audience watched and cheered and backed their favorites.

The very air was intoxicating, and man and horse alike felt its effects. Upon the majority the effects were manifested in the delight with which each succeeding event was observed. But with some others it simply operated to produce a desire for something whose intoxicating effects were stronger, and ever and anon they sought the inviting shades of the room beneath the grand stand where they found refreshments and inspiration galore. From these surroundings they returned light hearted and a few of them as full as was the programme, which con-tained five numbers, all of them good

Those who had looked for a sharp contest in the 2-year-old trot were disappointed, for only one of the three entries started. S. E. Larabie's Montana Kate had a walkover for the stakes. Time, 2:56.

Stakes. $915.

The second race was the 2-year-old running race, four and one-half furlongs. The entries were Marcus Daly's Little Dorritt, Ed Fortune's Miss Idaho and Ryan Brothers' Spoon. Little Dorritt sold favorite in the auctions at $20 against $5 for the field. In the books it required six dollars to win one on Dorritt, while the 45% were four to one on Miss Idaho and Spoon.

there were five entries: Thos. McTague's Zora, Henderson & Reed's Little Tough. Ed Smith's Half Moon, C. W. Chappeli's Periwinkle and H. D. Brown's Malcolm. Had it not been for Malcolm's ugly reputation he would have been a strong favorite, in fact at the sales down town he had been selling first choice. But, as buyers reached the track, the recollection of the brute's manners caused them to reflect and many hedged on Perwinkle, who sold first in the ring at $47.50, with Malcolm second choice at $30. The other horses comprised a strong field that sold for $25. Zora drew the pole, Half Moon had second place, Perwinkle third, Little Tough fourth and Malcolm on the outside. Tough fourth and Malcolm on the outside. Malcolm attempted his usual anties at the post, but a sound thrashing soon induced him to quiet down. Half Moon, however sulked and refused to start, delaying the send off about fifteen minutes. At length the starter left him at the post and sent the others off. Malcolm led to the halfmile flag, when Little Tough passed him, and led to within 100 yards of the wire. There Malcolm shot ahead and won by a length in 1:18½. Little Tough second. Perwinkle third, Zora last. Mutuals paid $7.95.

In the second heat Malcolm and Peri-winkle made a pretty run for the money. Little Tough had the worst of the start and was several lengths behind when the running began. The mare's friends did not weaken and this stiff price held until the bell rang.

The start was good but Chattel broke as the horses went under the wire. Ottinger trotted around outside the mare to the three-quarters and holders of field tickets felt rich for the time. But McDowell let the mare out and she forged ahead. At the three-quarters Keating sent Ottinger and be lapped the mare but could not pass her. Brown Silk won, Ottinger second, Chattel third.

The last event of the day was the special pacing race, with four entries, Philip Young's Geraldine, Miss Gracie Clancy's Rosie C., H. Barbour & Co.'s Montana Wilkes, and Thomas Tierney's Hummer. Montana Wilkes was the favorite in the pools at $30, although a large number of bettors was found who were willing to back Rosie C., who sold for $5 against $10 for the field.

The word was given the first fime the horses came down to the wire and Hummer set a lively pace for the first half with Rosie C. right after him. At the eighth Montana Wilkes went off his feet and ran for a full quarter mile. He had to be brought to a walk before he would go evenly, and was out of the race. At the three-quarters Rosie passed Hümmer, who could not regain his lead, and the Scattle mare won in 2:18½, Hummer second, Geraldine third, Montana Wilkes fourth. Wikes was distanced, but was given fourth position on a claim of foul by his driver, who said that one of the other horses cut in on his horse and caused him to run.

It is very easy to assert that a race has been "jobbed," but it is a different thing entirely to prove the job. Tom McTague was an interested spec-tator at the track yesterday, noticably during the three-quarter dash.

To-day's programme presents a list of queer names. Braw Scot, Jack the Rip-per, Gray Roosier and Jerquer.

There was no happier man on the track than Frank Clancy when Rosie C. won the first heat in the pacing race. For a sick mare Rosie C. is a remarkably likely animal. She would have showed up well in the free for all pace Tuesday.

Two jockeys and one owner were fined yesterday, the former for refusing to obey the judges and the latter for talking back to them.

It was a wise move of the starters to leave Half Moon at the post. A few such strokes as this and some heavy fines will make the starts more satisfactory.

The pacing race was a splendid one. It was an unfortunate time for it. The magnificent races of the two previous day had made people fastidious in regard to time. And, too, many had to leave the track to get the Butte train.

Among the Sports. A small crowd at the park Wednesday night witnessed the Turner-Ryan sparring contest. It was a game fight from the first round and was intensely exciting. Every round was well contested, and Every round was well contested, and neither of the men seemed to have the best of it, so even were the honors.

It was about eleven o'clock when the light weights faced each other in the ring, and it was nearly two before the referee decided the contest a draw.

The attendance was so light that the gate receipts were not large enough to fill the purse offered. A collection was taken up to make up the purse.

As a fight the contest was satisfactory, but from a financial standpoint it was a fizzle.
